

Kelly Parsons
Chief Financial Officer, North America

Kelly brings to her role as chief financial officer more than 19 years of diversified financial experience. From public accounting and consumer packaged goods, to food service and consulting services, Kelly's considerable knowledge is brought to bear in ensuring everything we do, everyday, is improving our clients' return on investment.

Before joining Mosaic, Kelly was chief financial officer for Accenture's HR Services subsidiary and had global responsibility for all finance, legal and commercial activities. Prior to Accenture, Kelly was group director of finance for Perot Systems Corporation where she created and staffed its first corporate planning department, managed relationships with the investment bank and analyst communities during Perot's 1999 initial public offering, and directed the development of broader employee benefit and competitive equity compensation programs. Kelly also spent ten years with PepsiCo Inc. in financial positions, both domestic and international, including strategic and financial planning, field operations finance, international finance and accounting.

Kelly holds an MBA from Bellarmine College and a BBA from Texas A & M University.
